Columbus, O., Aug. 29.—The marriage of former Congressman John C. Lentz of Columbus, to Mrs. Alta Ford, of Logansport, Ind., was announced here today. Mr. Lentz was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator at the primary, August 11th.

Some of the K. and P. folks camped on me all spraddled out today because I spoiled their picnic with a nice little rain. That just shows how unreasonable folks is. How was I to know they was gonna have a picnic when I had only thing one hears about these days is war. Why I'm surprised, saturated and soaked with war news from the mails I horn in on but I don't know what it is. Here's the weather:

Ohio—Generally fair tonight and Sunday. Slightly cooler in the south portion.

Kentucky—Generally fair tonight and Sunday. Slightly cooler tonight in East portion.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

Brady Hall, Co. Clay and Robinson.
Regular services are held every Sunday morning at 9:30. The lesson is "The Divine Plan of the Ages," and we are now studying the features relating to "The Kingdom of God." In the evening, at 7, the lesson is "The Time at Hand." This has to do with the chronological features of the scriptures, and is very interesting, as it has reached the point dealing with "The Man and Time of Our Lord's Return," and we all want to know of this and what are the signs of the time of His coming. How are we to know them? This Sunday, the 29th, is also our day for services in "The Temple Theatre," when W. H. Spring, of Newark, O., will speak at 2:30 p. m. on the topic, "The Time of the End." This will deal with the great wars now in Europe, from a scriptural standpoint, and their relation to "The Time of the End." Mr. Spring is a pleasant and interesting speaker.

RECOVERS Skill

George Barchett, of South Portsmouth, by a mere stroke of luck, Friday, recovered his fine skill which was stolen a few weeks ago. A friend reported to him that he had lost his skill among three which had just brought a big reinforcement of war-rabbits to Portsmouth. Barchett hurried to the aid and identified his skill. The men in charge refused to surrender it, claiming they had purchased it in good faith.

The next day Barchett promptly did his own self and otherwise began clearing for action and the men finally gave up the skill. The worst feature of all was that Barchett only the day before placed an order for a new skill, having given up hopes of recovering the old one.

THE TIME OF THE END

What should be our reasonable expectations? What relation have the present wars with the fulfillment of Prophecy? Where are we on the stream of Time? End of what? These and many other important questions will be carefully considered in the light of Divine Revelation.

SPECIAL SERVICE

A one hour's special service at the Holy Redeemer church has been set by Rev. Father J. E. McElrick, for Sunday evening, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. There will be exposition of the blessed sacrament and prayers for peace in Europe and that a worthy successor may be chosen to the late Pope Pius the Tenth.

CONFESSES TO THE POLICE

Arch Kinkle, a North End young man who has been held for several days on suspicion of having stolen a gold watch and a revolver from the home of Governor Adams, colored, made a clean breast of his part in the crime Saturday morning to Mayor Fryck, after having protested his innocence for several days. His confession also enabled the police to locate the watch and gun, which were returned to the rightful owner.

Kinkle claims that a negro by the name of Bob Taylor actually committed the theft, and turned over the loot to him in return for $5. He says that he gave the gun and watch into the custody of Ekron Ferguson, a local colored man, for safe keeping until the excitement over the robbery had subsided.

Police located Ferguson a short time afterward, and found the stolen property in his possession. He claims, however, that he purchased it from Kinkle, and was not aware that it was stolen.

Kinkle later pleaded guilty to the theft, and was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in the Cincinnati workhouse. He will probably be put to work on the streets in this city, however. Charges against Ferguson will likely be dropped by the police as soon as they conclude the investigation.

The Supreme Faculty

MYSTERY is the faculty above all others which we can least afford to lose. One who cannot see is infinitely more off than those who cannot hear, smell, taste, or feel.

Presight may be called the "non-troubling faculty" because the other senses depend so much upon it.

THE PALATE
Is stimulated by light—through the eyes—as all know who have ever dined in darkness. The fragrance of flowers is intensified by the pleasure they give to the eyes. Smoking, which is usually thought to be gratifying to the senses of taste and smell, is invariably discontinued by those who become blind, because the pleasures have departed.

The person who has a headache as a consequence of defective vision can usually see clearly. It is the strain of getting clear vision by overworking the defect which causes the pain.

NEW BOSTON

Phil Emmert, Gallia pipe smoker, has disposed of his business to Alex Parks who will take charge as soon as the license can be transferred to his name. There were several other parties after the business, one of them being a brother of Ben Emmert who just arrived when he jumped from an automobile which nearly went over a saloon on Gallia pipe. Ben Emmert was to take charge of the place for his brother who is in Cleveland. Emmert started the second saloon in the village on June 20, 1894. It was the time of oil lamps and when the street cars were run and allowed. Bids from conveyed the legs of beer to and from the city. Mr. Emmert offered the saloon to his son John, as a gift they were given very little consideration as the bids were at par value. The house will be held till the stock market picks up.

Ward Hayden, who was injured at the steel plant five weeks ago, when several bones in his right ankle were broken, is getting along as well as could be expected at his home on Rhodes avenue.

The village council will meet in a special session at the town hall Monday evening. This meeting will take the place of the regular meeting which was to be held on the next Monday evening, Labor Day.

Frederick Bishop, who had his right foot badly mangled at the steel plant Thursday morning, is getting along much better at the home of his brother, George Bishop, on West Stanton avenue.

The Daughters of America held their regular meeting Friday evening and transacted routine business.

Pete Hall resumed his work as clerk in Mayor J. S. Davis' grocery Saturday after a day's illness.

Mayor J. S. Davis and Councilman W. T. Haas did not come to a very satisfactory agreement with the members of the Home Telephone Company Friday. The franchise granted the company eight years ago to pay the same rate as the city subscribers, but they have been paying more. Free phone service for the mayor and council is also requested. The matter will be taken up at the next meeting of council.

THIS BANK

Is not here solely for the purpose of making money for its owners. Its equal purpose, as well as its sincere desire, is to promote the general interests of the community and help along its patrons. It does these things in several ways. It lends aid to any worthy project of development, it places the financial means within the reach of deserving borrowers, it encourages and rewards thrift and saving, which are the real bulwarks of community prosperity and individual fortune.

It does this latter by keeping safe individual savings and allowing a substantial compound interest thereon. It will allow as little as a dollar to start a savings account and in fact welcomes that just as much as if it were larger. For it means just as much that another person has started to save thereby assuring himself comfort in the future and by that much adding to community interest.

We would like to have you as a saving-depositor.

S. W. VETS ARE TO MEET IN LOUISVILLE

The National Encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans will be held at Louisville, Ky., Sunday morning.

R. L. Wallace, past commander of General Nelson Miles Camp, Washington, D. C., who is enroute to national encampment, is now visiting Samuel Robb and will accompany him to the encampment. Mr. Wallace and Robb were comrades in the old First Kentucky Infantry during the Spanish American war. On their return from Louisville, Wallace was promoted to assist in the mustering in of prospective members of the General J. H. Smith camp at next meeting, September 3rd. Comrade Wallace being an old hand at this work he will also make a very interesting talk along the line of Camp work.

The comrades to be mustered in at this meeting are Hugh Nichols, J. W. Smith, Edward Zeek, Mr. Griffith of Pullerton, Ky., and Joseph H. Triplett. This promises to be a rousing meeting. All comrades are requested to attend.

These Church Goers Are Not Mollycoddles

If anyone ever told you that church goers are necessarily mollycoddles, show them this.

E. Marshall Nichols and Harold Kents, the two Washington, D. C. newspaper scribblers enroute from Pittsburgh to New Orleans via canoe in the interests of the "Go To Church" movement gave an interesting exhibition at the new bathing beach near the government lake yesterday afternoon. Mr. Nichols went in the resort and challenged all comers to swim at one hundred yards, but none was forthcoming to oppose him and he was forced to content himself with showing the assembled crowd several fancy strokes and one or two of his own inventions. Mr. Kents also entertained the bathers by several swimming feats, including a "back float" on his back which was something never before witnessed at Portsmouth. The young evangelist crossed the river in his trail bark with a passenger on board without the aid of a paddle and without allowing anything to touch the surface of the water save the canoe itself. The feat was accomplished solely by the motion of the young man's meeting on the afternoon of Friday, while he stood erect in his September 4th, in the Tenth Methodist church. The program will be held at the canoeing ground next week. The society was well in this city. Already the in the sub-sea work and in the nucleus of a local committee has been organized composed of Messrs. Sam Reed of the First National Bank, W. B. Anderson of the Anderson company, H. C. Nelson of the Selby Shoe company, and Irving Drew of the Drew Shoe company. Other members will be added to the group and will be announced at a later date.

Tomorrow the young men will hold several meetings in the local churches, addressing the young people particularly. At nine o'clock they will speak in the Christian church before the Sunday school. Other talks will be given on street corners and possibly in one of the local theatres.

Killed Dogs
Dogs belonging to William Brown and Henry Eiben showed signs of hydrophobia at Bond Run Friday morning which was something never before witnessed and was fatal. The before witnessed at Portsmouth, night, Miss Green shot and killed the dogs with the consent of their owners Saturday.

Picking Up Money

Using these columns is pretty much like picking up money on the streets. Walking is small effort, you wear out a little old leather, the money you pick up is clear gain, if you can't find the owner.

So it is little effort to telephone your "want" to this paper, your carrier will collect the little cost—only 3 cents a word each insertion—and the little ad is altogether likely to get for you what you want.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, trouble, vex, elopement, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

double rig and all go together. Miss Dolly:—Will you please tell me how to take ink stains out of chemise and linen?

I do not know of any thing that will take ink out of the chemise without also taking the color out. Soaking in sweet milk or buttermilk ought to take the stain out of the linen.

Dear Miss Wise:—I am seventeen years old and keeping company with a fellow twenty-five. I am tired of staying at home. Please advise me. Am I too young to get married? How long ought I wear my hair?

Yes. You can't get married until you are 18. If you are large were your dresses about to the bustle. Wear your hair parted down the middle and pulled up on the back of your head.

Dear Miss Wise:—Would you please tell me where there is a trained nurse school? How much would the tuition be? How is my writing and spelling? How old do you have to be before you can enter?

There is a training school at Hensington Hospital. You might be able to get in there if you do not want to leave the city. There are also training schools in almost every city where there are hospitals, such as Canton, Huntington, Columbus and Cincinnati. At Columbus, Mt. Carmel, Grant and the Protestant, they have training schools for nurses. In Cincinnati, the Jewish, Christ Bethesda, German Deaconess and Good Samaritan Hospitals. I think you have to be over 18 before you can enter. In most of them you will have to work three months for nothing and then you would get either $5.00, $7.00, or $8.00 per month, according to what hospital you enter. Your writing and spelling is very good.

Dear Dolly:—What is your opinion of girls riding horseback? I am quite a number of girls in this city are doing it now. I ride some times.

I think it is a splendid exercise. If you do not avoid it. I hope you ride safely, as it is so far and a girl looks fairly as well as in the old-fashioned side saddle.

Dear Dolly:—We are two girls, 18 and 19 years of age and our parents are 21 and 21. Do you think we are too young to go out riding alone with the car and a chauffeur?

LOCAL GERMAN'S VIEW OF THE WAR

By Major Lewis F. Korth, Former Editor of The Correspondent

Thursday, August 27, 1914.

How goes the war. Decidedly goes for the Germans, every day adds further toward Paris, rather than backward in the same direction.

The German main army has forced the allies out of Belgium entirely and is now on French soil. The battles which preceded took place close to the French border in the crutch formed by the rivers Meuse and Sambre at their junction, south and west of Namur. The Germans took the strongly fortified city in two days, fighting from the Belgians, quicker even than Liege, and then the combined French and English armies, coming to the aid of the Belgians, (too late) at the very gates of the fortress, the plains of Charleroi and Wavre, right where the Prussians under Blucher, going to the support of Wellington at Waterloo in 1815, brushed Grouchy out of the way and reached the English just in the nick of time to turn the tide against Napoleon. The most significant battle of all times was fought here, lasting nine days.

The allies, marching from Mons and Ghent had taken the offensive, but were defeated and forced to retreat behind a second entrenched line, from where they expected another advance and attack, which also failed. The fighting was most ferocious on both sides and the losses appalling.

While these movements were going on under the eyes of the general as commander in chief, the armies of the German crown prince and of Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, the two Meuse armies, the army of the Rhine under Prince Albrecht of Wurttemberg, operating respectively from Metz and Strasbourg, maneuvered the bulk of all the Vosges passes and Upper and Lower Alsace in three victorious battles, at the Blamont and at the foot of the Vosges, drove them across the road back into France, capturing many thousands of prisoners and hundreds of guns. Berlin says that the French were completely routed and many detachments sent out.

The German Northern army, which was the first in the field, left Liege, after moving toward the coast, investing Antwerp and then Ghent and Bruges, near a English canal on the way, drove southward and crossed the main border near Ypres, which took without a blow, the French garrison having evacuated and fled, which seems incredible to London.

The extreme left wing of the German army, which was the first in the field, left Liege, after moving toward the coast, investing Antwerp and then Ghent and Bruges, near a English canal on the way, drove southward and crossed the main border near Ypres, which took without a blow, the French garrison having evacuated and fled, which seems incredible to London.

The Eastern front of war has been more quiet this week than the four since the beginning of the campaign. The Russian Cossacks are overrunning the open country southeast of Smolensk, the capital of the province of East Prussia. The German army corps, after a battle near Gumbinnen, are working the Russian army into a mass of 80,000 prisoners, is now falling back on the main line and the chain of the Vistula.

Danzig, Dirschau, Thorn and Tarnobrzeg, the strongholds of the Kingdom, eight Austrian corps are operating north of the borders of Poland in connection with this army.

The Austrian army of invasion, however, which for weeks has been acting on the offensive, stopping its way toward Warsaw, in the third of this month, the Austrians made a stand at the two main points on the line to Warsaw, against which the Austrians are operating, but were completely defeated and driven out of their line of defenses, 24 miles long. The Austrians are now investing Lublin, in the heart of Poland, and are making as good progress as the Germans in France, it seems.

The Russian army which was to invade Hungary through the Carpathian passes, has been checked at Lemberg. A battle is pending.

In Serbia the Austrians are acting on the defensive, but continue the siege of Belgrade. The Serbians and Montenegrins have invaded Bosnia. A late dispatch speaks of a bloody drawn battle between them and the Austrians at Visegrad, which shows that they have crossed the Drina river and the Tomanja mountains and are marching upon Sarajevo, the capital, from where the war started.

The campaign against Russia has been as fruitful of gains as that against Belgium and France at the beginning.

"The Russians are driving the Germans through Pomerania behind the Masurian lakes and toward the Oder. A panic has set in at Berlin, thousands are packing up and fleeing to Stockholm," we hear from London. There are a million and a half of German and Austrian fighters between Vistula and Oder, and the czar has no more. He too has to fight on more than one front, as the German campaign in Finland against Petersburg is developing some suspicious, and the Austrians do not only threaten Poland, which is ripe for a revolution, the czar did not dare to call out the Polish reserves for fear of it, but also Yalta, which has forced him to call out the home guards in that province.

It was certainly not without purpose that the Russian ambassador in London, Count Benckendorff, this week warned the English people (interview in the Times) against being too sanguine about Russian help and rely more upon themselves.

Before the Russians can advance from East Prussia, which is an open country without natural defenses, into West Prussia to the Vistula they have to take Konigsberg, on the Baltic to protect their flank, and they don't have that kind of Krupp guns, (16 inch howitzers) which reduced the forts of Liege, Namur and Longwy in less than an hour. It is 140 miles from the Russian border to Berlin, only 120 from the Belgian border to Paris.

What is Germany's war strength compared with that of the allies? About the middle of July, when the skies began to redden, the French secretary of war gave out in the chambers, that the French army since the late change from two to three years service in the line and the subsequent new formation of the cadres, which upset all France, would equal, if not surpass, that of Germany. Conditions may have changed since the mobilization of both armies in favor of Germany, but the English and Belgian commentators should make up for the difference.

More numbers however, do not decide wars. The valor and morale of officers and men, their drill and discipline, the efficiency of their supply and transportation service, and above all, the genius of the directive in planning campaign and movements are the telling factors.

In these regards the German army stands higher than either the French or Russian, and if such an army fights for hearth and home and national existence, it is inevitable, unless fought down by overwhelming numbers.

In Paris, which is already preparing for a siege, there are half a million people on the street, without work and the wherewithal to live, as late dispatches say. The banks only pay to ten per cent cash of deposits. In a demonstration of street laborers in front of the Louvre shouts of "Vive la Commune" were heard. President

FIVE CAUGHT IN A RAID ON A FREIGHT

At the instance of Conductor C. C. Norris, who telegraphed ahead from Sardinia, Detective Baucus of the N. & W., and a squad of policemen met Train No. 92, a fast merchandise special from Cincinnati, at the Vera Bridge, about midnight, Friday night, and placed under arrest, five men, Frank Dudley, William Naval, Sam Brown, and William Jackson, colored, and William Kennedy, white, all train riders.

The five men were taken to police station, where charges of train riding were lodged against them, but instructions were to hold them on suspicion of having been implicated in the robbery of an unknown white man who was also being his way on the train. Norris' wife stated that the man had been robbed of $25 in money and a revolver, and also badly beaten up by a gang of hoboes.

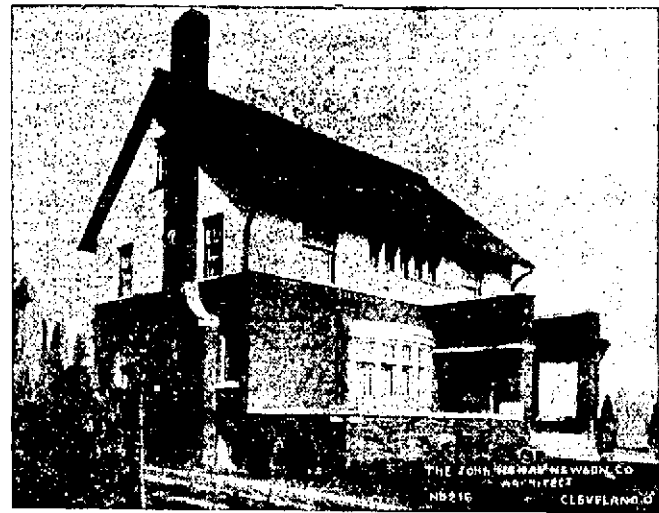

Mayor Frick arraigned the five men Saturday but not the slightest evidence was adduced that would implicate them in the robbery. All of them are employees on the extra gang on the N. & W. and are well known here. The Mayor expressed doubt as to the truth of the robbery story. He found the men guilty of train riding, however, and fined them $10 and costs. In default of payment, they will be put to work on the streets Monday.

MAYOR CLEANING OUT DISREPUTABLE HOUSES

Determined to make Portsmouth a clean city, Mayor Frick, Saturday morning, closed another disreputable house on Eleventh street. Ruby Dunn, who runs the house was ordered to move to another part of the city and warned that she must cease the practices in which she has been engaged. At the same time she was fined $50 and costs, as were a couple caught in the same raid.

A Brick and Cement House—By John Henry Newson

"Home of Character, No. 216"

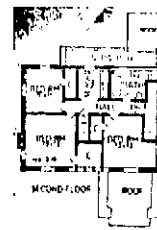

This house is designed on simple lines and relies entirely upon the location and size of openings as well as the combination of materials for this quaint effect. The brick used upon the exterior from the grade line to the sills of the second floor windows is a rough face brick of various shades and colors and the plaster on the second floor and in the gables is on hollow tile, and a light cream in color. The open terrace across the front allows for ample light into the living room and the circular bay presents a very charming view from the exterior, and a beautiful vista in looking through from the dining room towards the front of the house.

The house is entered by means of a covered porch at the doorway, through a vestibule, into a stair hall. The living room extends from this hall to the opposite wall, and is terminated with a fireplace and seats forming an inclosure across the end. The dining room opens off of the center of the living room and extends to the rear, and the second floor is reached both from the front stair hall and from the kitchen. The cellar is accessible from the kitchen and also from the outside cellarway at the rear of the house. The first floor is also provided with a den or library off of the living room with glass doors in the opening. The second floor has three bedrooms, each with ample closets, and a sewing room, which opens up onto a sleeping porch on the rear. The bathroom, which is over the kitchen, is very large and has in it a towel closet, a feature which is very convenient.

Under average building conditions this house, 36x32 feet, can be built for about $7000, using a good grade of material and workmanship.

By special arrangement all inquiries from Times readers concerning No. 216 or any other HOME OF CHARACTER appearing in the Times from week to week will be answered without charge by Mr. Newson if addressed, "John Henry Newson, HOMES OF CHARACTER DEPT., The Times." In writing always give the number of the house concerning which you make inquiry.

DASHING E. A. COOPER IS AGAIN IN TROUBLE

Edward A. Cooper, a dashing black man who had while in Portsmouth, he took skipped out of Portsmouth ten or considerable pride in it and when more years ago leaving a big he addressed the ladies of the shortage in his accounts as "dear sisters" and said that his voice was coming and persuasive and some of the ladies more than once exclaimed that he was "just lovely."

A Wilkesbarre, Pa., paper just received by the Times devotes several columns of space to telling of Cooper's latest escapades. He it seems has eloped with one Kathleen Riley-Macounen with whom he had become madly infatuated, deserting his wife, Mrs. Emma R. Bangs-Cooper and two young children, and leaving behind debts said to aggregate several thousand dollars. His family was left in destitute circumstances.

Cooper was district deputy of the Knights and Ladies of Security at a salary of $5,000 per annum. He lived high and was very much in evidence at cafes and other places frequented by the sports in the city. Scotty of Death Valley fame is said to have had nothing on him as a spender of money. Whenever he started out evenings his only change consisted of ten dollar bills and it was nothing for him to throw a five dollar bill to a waiter.

Sported Big Mustache

Until recently Cooper sported

other part of the city. He kept his affinity in style among others, providing her with a taxicab and a negro servant. Driven from there Cooper went to live with Kathleen at the home of her parents in Plymouth for a time and since then all trace of them is lost. The story of Cooper's double life runs out more than a year ago, but the promises Cooper made to provide for his wife and children kept the authorities from making it public. Cooper in fact was arrested but the matter was patched up. His wife and children returned to their former home in Oswego, N. Y. He sent them money for a time, then suddenly ceased unless she agreed to divorce him, so that he might marry the other girl. It was on the eve of Yuletide that his heartless proposition was received. Mrs. Cooper never thinking for a moment that he would fail to at least send something to the children for Christmas.

Wife Agrees To A Divorce

Finally in desperation Mrs. Cooper agreed to a divorce, she to receive $1,000 and the sum of $10 per month while the case was pending, while the children were to receive $10 per month until they became twenty-one years of age. Suddenly while negotiations were still on she found herself penniless. She appealed to the national officers of the order for her share of her husband's wages but did not succeed. Eventually Cooper's depredations became known about various events and feeling grew against him until a gale of discontent is now said to be sweeping through the membership.

A warrant has been sworn out for Cooper's arrest on charges of desertion and non-support and there is also a charge of adultery against him and a serious charge against the young woman, indeed the pair though have failed. Cooper while in Portsmouth conducted a barber shop at Ninth and Franklin streets. He became prominent in affairs of local labor organizations after his election as president of central labor council and took a flyer in politics, lining up with the Republican machine of those days and on diverse occasions agreed to deliver the labor vote of the city to its candidate for office. Cooper originally was a bootmaker by trade but always left he was out for an easier life. He was at one time a hotel and was said to be an excellent cook.

Constable Charles Skoonover, of Leesville, while in the city Saturday offered a $25 reward for information leading to the identity of the jay-riders who ran over him, destroying his buggy and knocking him into a ditch at the Carlied farm place, four miles out of Chillicothe pike, Thursday night. He says the machine was without light. "There were two men and as many women in the party."

Odle Asks For Divorce

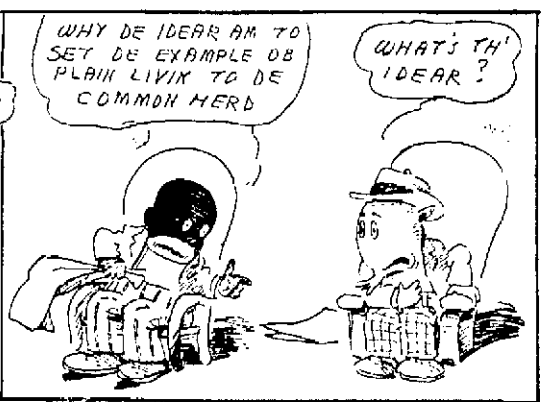

Irvin Odle, defendant in a divorce action recently instituted by his wife, Jennie Odle, filed an answer and cross-petition in common pleas court Saturday morning, in which he denied every allegation contained in his wife's petition and asks for a divorce on the grounds of adultery. He charges his wife with adultery with one Charles Coon, and divers other persons unknown to him, also alleging that she remained out late at night, and was addicted to the use of intoxicating liquor.

Wants A New Trial

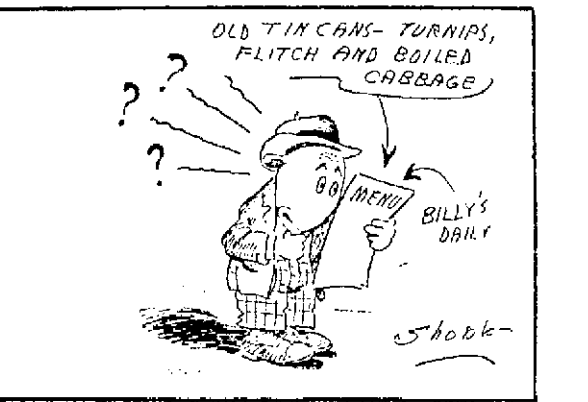

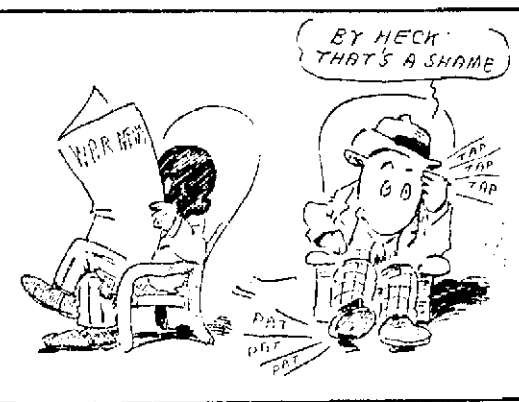

Attorney William R. Sprague has filed a motion in Mayor Frick's court for a new trial in the case of J. B. Frostick, charged with discharging fire arms in the city limits. The mayor has taken the motion under advisement. Frostick has been twice arraigned on the charge, and found guilty and fined each time.

Kelley Brothers secured the contracts for building the cement walks at the new Lincoln building, their bids being the lowest in a field of three bidders, while Kaps Brothers were awarded the contract for constructing the cement curbs and brick work.

The bids were as follows: Kelley floors at the high school building curb, 30 per lineal foot, brick work, $1.50 per square yard; Kaps Brothers, cement walks, $2576.00, curb, 20 per lineal foot; brick work, $1.25 per square yard; Structural Concrete Company, cement walks, $1900, curb, 15 per lineal foot; brick work, $2.45 per square yard.

Special consent of railroad officials allows their bureau inside the gates at the station. New men on inquiry, are told where to go in the city and on the campus and how to get there. Special maps are used for this purpose. By calling at the Y. M. C. A. office on the campus they secure the handbook of college affairs. It is there also that the room file is kept. Officers of the association and cabinet men meet them there.

Opening days are full of happenings especially arranged for the freshmen. Association and church receptions are held. Regular weekly meetings of the Y. M. C. Pert Paragraphs Of The 101 Ranch

Joseph G. Miller is the only white man permitted to sit in council with Indians. He is recognized chief of the Ponca tribe, a reward for the services he rendered during their struggle with the government. The 101 Ranch adjoins the Ponca reservation in Oklahoma, and Mr. Miller is the head of the 101 Ranch Wild West which comes here on Wednesday, Sept. 16, at 17th and Findlay streets.

The 101 Ranch is the largest institution of this character now on the road. It travels on three trains, and its visit here will see an entirely new performance offered.

Edward Arlington, one of the owners of the 101 Ranch, has the distinction of being the inventor of the cloth banners that outdoor amusement institutions use in advertising. The idea was the outcome of a visit to a silk mill printing department and the first banners were printed on that fabric.

Backed by Bronchos, the show are not trained as many suppose. They are unbroken horses, and when properly broke they are sent back to the ranch at Bliss, Oklahoma, the home of the organization.

Harry Parrish, train master, has the record for unloading the three trains. This season every car was unloaded and the cars side-tracked in 52 minutes.

Three different menus are served daily in the cook house. The Mexicans and Indians both have fare of their own. While the cow boys and others receive a third course of edibles.

Mounted on a saddle, ending $10,000, Joseph G. Miller daily leads the parade. The saddle is the only one in this country that is made of it is studded with diamonds, both cut and uncut.

RUSHTOWN MYSTERY IS CLEARED UP BY FATHER

The mystery surrounding the identity of the young man killed near Rushtown on the night of July 25th, by a N. & W. train was cleared up Saturday, when William Shepard, of Adrian, Michigan, identified the personal effects and clothing taken off the youth's body as those of his sixteen-year-old son, General Shepard. The elder Shepard, was accompanied to this city by another son, Henry Shepard, also of Adrian, and together they viewed the personal effects of the unfortunate victim.

The body of the boy was brought to the Dine undertaking establishment on the night of the accident, and prepared for burial. When no relatives showed up to claim the body, it was buried in the potter's field at Greenlawn.

Mr. Shepard stated Saturday morning that his son started out a few days before his death from his home in Adrian for his old home in Tennessee, intending to make his way by riding freight trains. The last heard of him was two days before he was killed, when he sent his mother a card from Toledo, telling her that he was headed for the "Sunny South."

Attention of the Shepard family was called to the accident at Rushtown by a neighbor, who read a dispatch from this city in a Michigan paper, telling of the fatality. Mr. Shepard entered into correspondence with Undertaker Dice of this city, and from the description sent here, became satisfied that the youth buried in this city was his son. He came here late Friday night, and Saturday morning positively identified the clothing as that of his son. It didn't require an examination of the body to convince him of that.

Owing to his straightened circumstances, Mr. Shepard will be unable to have the body exhumed and taken to Michigan for burial, but he hopes to do this within the next few months.

Mr. Shepard and his son had an unfortunate experience while en route to Portsmouth, having been the victim of a robbery on a T. & O. C. train en route to Columbus. All of their money, which amounted to about $70, was stolen by the sneak thief, who made good his escape, and the two men landed in Portsmouth absolutely penniless.

They called upon the mayor Saturday morning and told their story. Touched by their tale, the mayor purchased tickets for them to Adrian, Michigan, their home, relying upon their honesty to repay the money to him after they reached home. They left for Adrian Saturday afternoon.

HEN FRUIT IS SCARCE

There is a decided scarcity of eggs over town and retailers are asking 25 and 28 cents per dozen. Grocer J. J. Boushert says there is nothing surprising about this, for hens are shedding, and the same condition has occurred periodically for the past twenty-five or thirty years. He predicts that the price will advance to 30 cents within another week.

"JOHN DOUGH" COMING TO PORTSMOUTH SOON

"John Dough" is coming to Portsmouth soon.

The King of the Bakers, or the King of the bread world, is to appear in royal person in this city early in September. "John Dough" is a creation of the Fleischmann Company, manufacturers of yeast. He has been appearing in every city of importance in the country and when he comes to Portsmouth he will be given a royal reception.

The Fleischmann Company has inaugurated a nation-wide campaign to increase the sale of bread and bakery products.

In this systematic and expensive plan it is sending advance agents to every town in which John Dough is to appear, arranging for his coming and heralding his arrival. V. Williams, of the New York office of the firm, has been in the city the past few days in communication with every baker in the city. In addition to preparing them for the arrival of John Dough he has also made arrangements for them to derive some benefit from the immense advertising campaign carried on by this firm.

Arrangements have been made with The Times for the Fleischmann advertising. John Dough cartoons and the history of his life will appear in The Times once a week for ten weeks.

Portsmouth bakers, always enterprising and wide awake to business opportunities, have taken advantage of this splendid opportunity offered by the Fleischmann company and their advertising will be run in connection with the John Dough ads.

It will pay you to read these advertisements each week. Several of the bakers have some announcements to make that it will pay the bread and pastry consumer to follow. Knittel's bakery, Adam and Jacob Pfau, Adams

PICTURES OF BIG SCHOOL WILL BE DISTRIBUTED

All the members of the First Christian church Bible school will remember that great day last January when the high water mark of 1810 was registered by the indicator. On that same day the men's class was strong with 298 present. Photographs of the men's class and of the great school will appear in the Lookout tomorrow. Everyone will want one. At large expense the pictures have been published and every member of the school will appreciate the enterprise of the management in their production. Our copy goes to each family. The oldest member of each family present gets one Lookout. Two immense half-tones in every paper.

On the first Sunday in each month the financial secretary spreads on the church wall the financial honor roll for the preceding month. Much interest is manifested in this honor roll. It includes all those who have paid their pledges up to date. There will be a lively effort to get in the procession tomorrow, as it is the first Sunday in August.

Those two bustling young newspapermen who are shipping from Pittsburgh to New Orleans in a canoe, have been invited to speak to the school at nine o'clock. They are five ones and everybody will want to hear them. They want to enlist everybody in church attendance for at least four Sundays.

The Sunday school, in point of attendance, has been below par for several weeks, but with the ending of vacation days it is thought the school will perk up wonderfully and come back strong for the fall campaign. The interest in the school has never lagged for one second, and it now will with each
